The Love of God

The church today is facing a lot of problems. Problems are everywhere. The world is full of problems. Too often, we like to focus on the problems. Preachers preach against the problems. Christians try to learn things from the Bible to help solve their problems. But what is often missing, what is often overlooked is the love of the Lord Jesus Christ.

There is not a Christian alive who did not become a Christian because they were touched with the awesome Love of Christ. When they felt like they were of no use to anyone in this world; when they felt that they were not loved by anyone, the love of Christ intervened and made them important. To Jesus, we are all important. The Bible says that he died for all men that they might come to repentance.

If we are to have a successful Christian Life, we must never forget that wonderful first touch of the love of God. Because it's the love of God that constrains us to keep serving him, to keep going on for him and to make everything in the Christian Life important. It's the love of God that helps us to walk the Christian walk when we want to quit. It's the love of God that helps us to get up and serve him when we just don't feel like doing so. A mother or father will get up in the middle of the night to tend to their baby out of love. Not because they enjoy changing a dirty diaper. But because they love their child. Jesus' love towards us is similar. Should we not grow as a Christian and love him in return?

A lot of people have the Theology of, "What has the Lord done for me lately?" They think that Christianity is there to serve them and give them the things that they need. But it's not. Christianity is for us to be to love people as well as love God; to love with an unfeigned love. Rarely will you find any place in the world that will accommodate such a love as the love of God. ~
